Issue two of Thoughtforms features interviews with Emma Anderson, Miki Berenyi, Robin Guthrie, Vaughan Oliver, Jim Friedman, Audrey Riley and Steve Rippon. Also included are previously unseen promotional band photographs; unseen photography for Lush's sleeve designs by Jim Friedman; unseen unused cover designs for Lush's Blind Spot EP by Chris Bigg and Martin Masai Andersen; and unseen photographs of the band in the studio at KCRW for their live session recorded for Morning Becomes Eclectic. Also includes Phil King's American tour diary from 1996. The 76-page magazine is litho-printed in full colour, with a matt laminate cover and silk inner pages. The cover design is by Chris Bigg and the photography by Martin Masai Andersen.
