Meet five very different brides telling their individual stories from meeting the groom to the first dance at the wedding. The brides include Emma – a preppy Southern bride, Tilda – a hippy bride, Tiff – a country bride, Dee – a late in life bride, and Zoe – a hard core bride. Who knew what a challenge just picking the date could be in the South? After all, there's football season, hunting season, NASCAR races, and many other things to consider if you even want anyone to show up. These brides share their stories of engagement ring selection, the dress, the bridesmaids, groom's cakes, the caterer, ring bearers, the photographer, venues, wedding music, etc. If you're planning a wedding or even if you're not, you'll love these stories of matrimonial madness. If you want a quick read that will leave you laughing out loud, this is the book for you. Chick Lit, Wedding Gift, Humor
