[Siren Allure ManLove: Erotic Alternative Futuristic Sci-Fi Romance, M/M, HFN] Ari Wilder was having a bad day. His mission was hijacked by fellow assassin and enemy, Beckett Dekker, and he soon learns that an army of genetically modified assassins are after him. Reluctantly depending on Beckett for help, Ari sets out to complete the mission of his life: stop the army and stay alive in the process. It's not an easy task nor is being so close to Beckett and remaining completely uninterested. Beckett knew that Ari was different the moment he met him. Nothing could have prepared him for the intense chemistry or the immediate desire. While they work together to stop the army, Beckett realizes that he must break all the rules and potentially cost him any chance with Ari for the sake of saving the planet. Both men were used to war, but there is enough heat between them to consume them both. Can Ari and Beckett settle their differences and turn one bad day into the best day of their life? A Siren Erotic Romance
