Keith and Chrissie McGuire are determined to create a perfect life for themselves and their two children. Everything is going well: Chrissie is a lawyer, Keith is an up-and-coming architect, and the children are well-loved and well provided for. However, when Keith and Chrissie decide to visit a hypnotherapist to address some residual childhood issues, Keith emerges from his hypnotic trance as Harry Walker, a petty gangster loathed by everybody who knows him, including his wife and child, and locked in deadly rivalry with Planty, a notorious local hard man.
