The complete Up for Grabs series with a bonus novella! Up for Grabs: Flannery Tate left home for college half a country away. She just wants an education. Something that will give her opportunities and lead to a life unlike the one she grew up in. Then she meets Cain Dorsey... Living her new life, one she never dreamed of, Flannery is gobsmacked when she finds out that the scholarship she'd worked years for in high school, has disappeared. Without that money, she'll have to leave school and return home without a college degree and without Cain. Until Flannery gets creative... Flannery decides that selling her virginity to the highest bidder is the only option she has to guarantee her next year of college. When Cain discovers her plan his feelings of betrayal drive them apart. She wants to stay in Michigan even if it isn't with Cain but if she can convince him that she's worth all the trouble, maybe nothing else will matter. Up in the Air: The night Cain Dorsey finds out his girlfriend, the love of his life, is selling her virginity to pay her college tuition, might go down as the worst night of his life. His world crumbles along with their relationship. What follows is even worse. The way he feels, the way Flannery Tate is treated on campus, he can't come to grips with what she's doing. Then his best friend is there for him. Giving him the kick in the pants he needs to get his life back on track. But how can he go about as if things are normal when obviously they aren't and Flannery is treated like the pariah she never wanted to be. And he won't stop until he figures a way out for her. Up for Forever: Kendra Roberts grew up in a world where money and appearances were everything. She learned early that love, at least not the forever kind, doesn't exist in the real world. Until she realizes she's been in a relationship for two years... Adam Burger puts up with a lot in the name of love, even if the one he's in love with won't admit she loves him right back. One little slip that acknowledges his feelings for her pushes Kendra away. Believing she was right to cut Adam loose is easy for a while... On a trip to New York, Kendra realizes just how lucky she'd been finding Adam and love. The love she didn't think existed. Panic turns into a full meltdown when Kendra returns to find Adam trying to move on. She's always been good at hiding from the truth... Kendra can't continue to hide when her best friends' wedding pushes Adam and her together, again and again, giving her the opportunity to make things right. If she can get Adam to believe that she is ready for the forever he always wanted, her life will be back on track. If not, then she'll never have the man she truly wants. Up for Everything: Sam is the ultimate single guy. A no-relationship kind of dude, a big move to freedom straight out of college is just what he wants, but there's something missing. He figures a trip to Hawaii is the perfect way to figure out his life and find what he's looking for. Then she came into his life... Miriam didn't plan for romance. Neither did Sam. But when they connect, sparks fly and a passionate bond is forged. Miriam can tear down the wall Sam's put up to protect himself, the only woman who can break through his bravado and see the person he really is. Unexpectedly, Sam finds himself falling for her.
