I knew the day would come when I would meet the man of my dreams. I would fall in love at first sight and the rest would be history. Two things happened. First, the man of my dreams turned out to be a pompous ass at first sight. Second, the Universe is not done throwing us together. My story is about dedication, determination, passion, and friendship. I have a dream life dancing in a troupe traveling all over the world. But, the day I met Dex, my life changed forever.
