Could she possibly make Luke forget? Debra Seton hadn't expected to find the man of her dreams in the interior of British Columbia. But Luke Watson--a handsome, widowed rancher and son of her mother's best friend--presented a challenge. Though neighbor Stella Trent was obviously in the running, her real rival, Debra believed, was Luke's dead wife, Rosena. When she learned the truth about that brief marriage, however, Debra knew that only Luke could remove the dangerous threat to their future happiness
