Are you a fry short? Some have been described as being "one fry short of a happy meal." This is a common phrase used for those who are a little "off." Dr. Tim Passmore knows what this means through personally experiencing the stress of unhealthy emotions. He has struggled with Obsessive Compulsive Disorder and Bipolar Type II Disorder since childhood. His journey has taken him through formal training in psychology, counseling, and treatment by medical professionals. The most significant influences in addressing his issues have come through his study of God's Word and finding value through his personal relationship with Christ. Join him as he helps you discover who you are and influences you as you travel down the road which can lead to emotional success. Dr. Tim Passmore is pastor of Woodland - The Community Church in Bradenton, Florida. He is the author of the book Outcome: A Blueprint for Becoming an Effective Church. Dr. Passmore received a Bachelor's Degree in Psychology from Samford University, a Master's Degree in Christian Education and a Doctor of Educational Ministries Degree from New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary. He is married to Jennifer and has four children - Emily, Michael, Alex, and Abby.
