Clancy Evans is asked to help a young clergyman. One of his elderly members knows more than he's saying...but who cares about a murder in 1933? Ancient history! Clancy cares. Clancy and Sam, her black lab, travel to Riley Corners to investigate. Straight talking and direct, Clancy wastes no time in riling this small town, including the law. She enlists an old friend, a former Navy SEAL, to help her strip away some of the secrets of this Southern community...and there could be hell to pay, for both of them!
